*It's All Together
With Spirit at G.H.S.*

Things have really begun to get in the groove at Greenwood. After all last year's changes in our school's way of life, 45 teachers, 1,050 students, 17 bus drivers, 5 custodians, the principals, and the nurse have become adjusted to the pattern. The dress code changes, allowing girls to wear slacks and guys to wear long hair, presents a new atmosphere inside the school to complement the new outside atmosphere presented by our building and location. New patterns have been established; patterns of school life and mood that have become familiar to us. The building's geography, its personality, and its human content have begun to jell, to fit into the pattern that is Greenwood High School. We have begun to discover where we fit into the school and the community as well as how to get along with each other. This knowledge comes with the awareness that our school is, at last, all together.

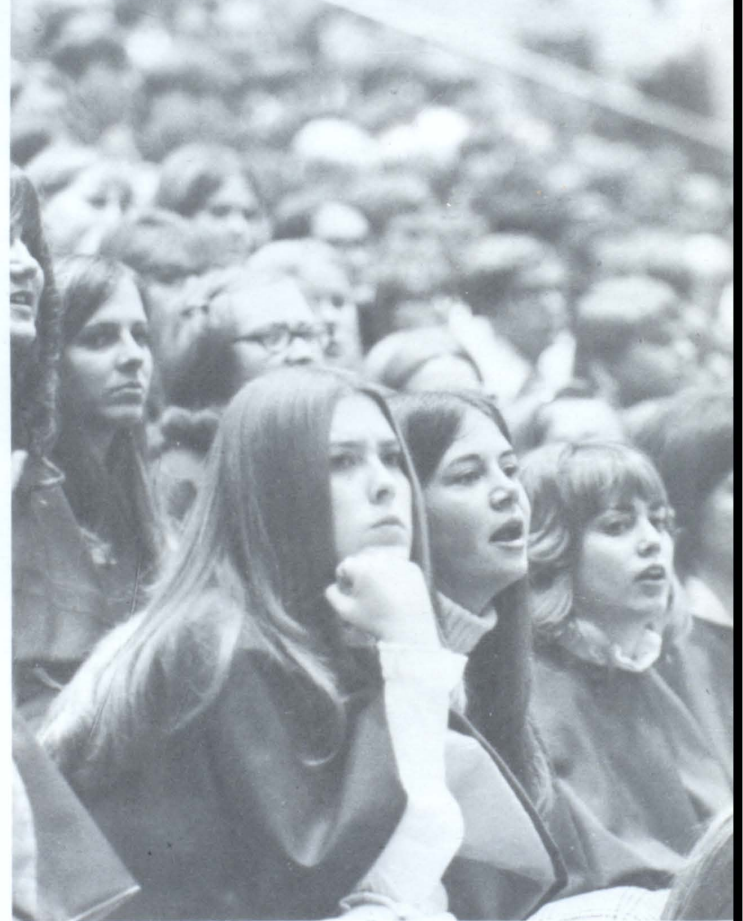

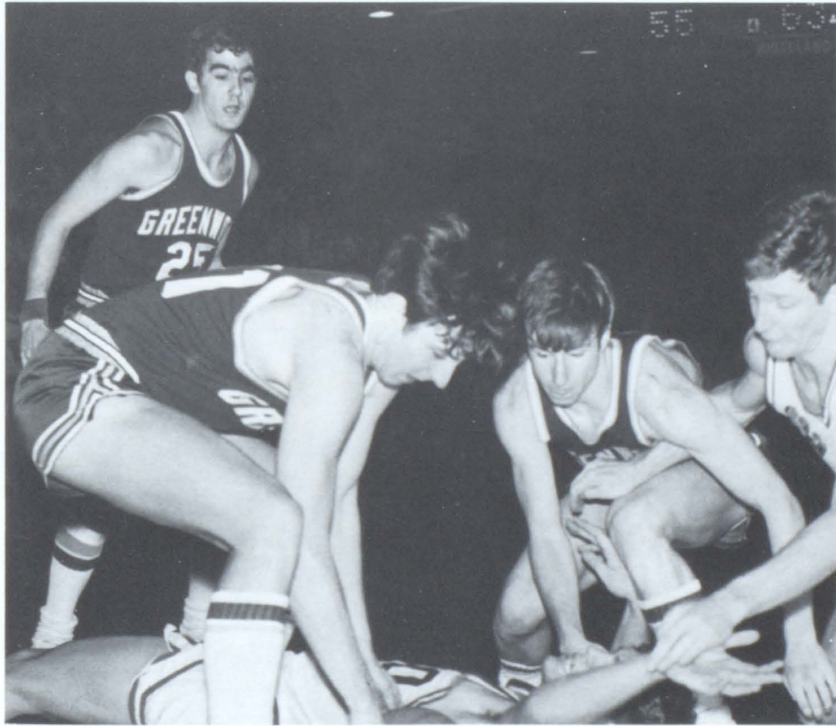

Second Year at GHS "Really Gets It On!"

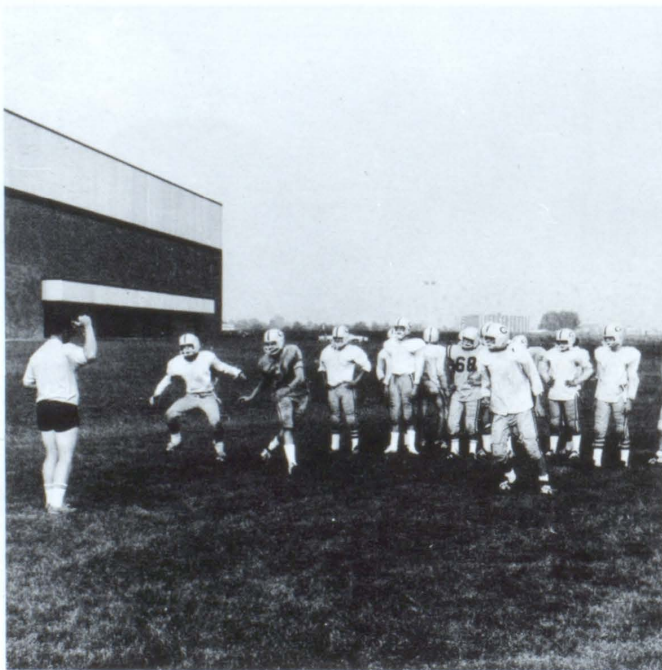

Warning!

This Book is not the usual type edition with the conventional divisions. It was put together as the events happened during the year. Therefore the traditional opening, sports and activities sections are combined to give better coverage on a limited amount of pages. So before you complain about being cheated or jipped, read the book through with the idea that this was the way it took place during the year. Because it was, and that's the truth!
Signed-The Editor.

"Big Green Machine" Rolls to 6 - 4 Season

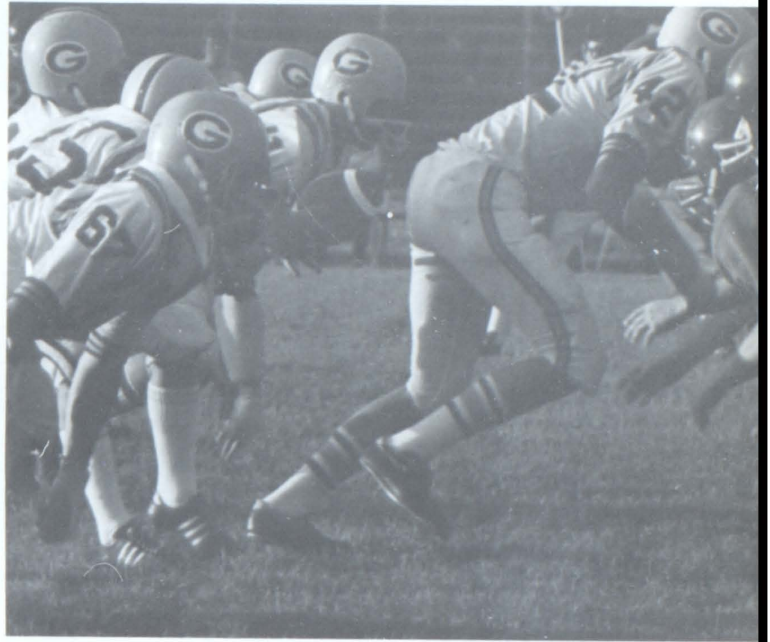

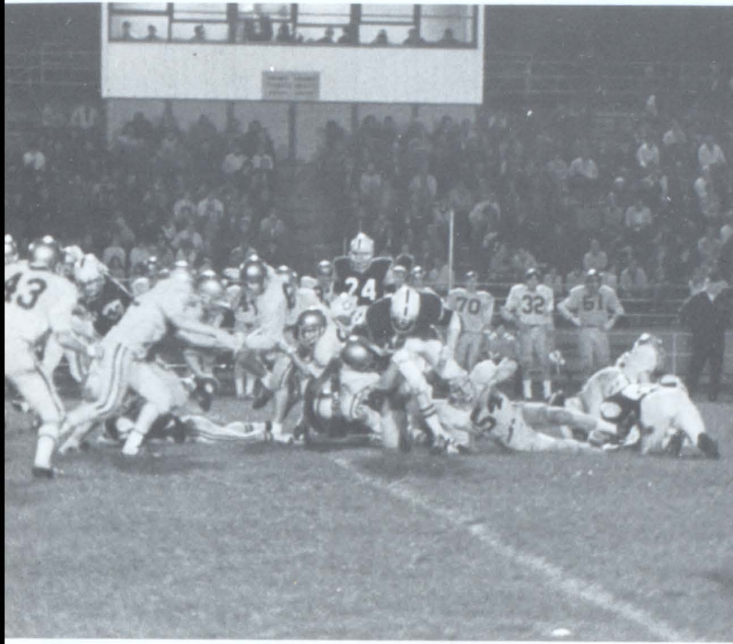

The varsity football team rolled to a successful 6-4 season. After the Woodmen knocked down their first four opponents, they ran into four highly regarded teams and gave them all they could handle before finally falling. The Woodmen were led by seniors John Riester, who was voted MVP, and Brian Dawson, who was voted MVL. Also helping the Woodmen out this year were Bill Surina and John Sullender, both seniors, and two juniors, Steve DeVore and Bruce Hensley.

Harrier's start 1,000 mile club

The Cross Country team showed potential of being a contender in any meet. The team, coached by John Irons, suffered a 3-4 regular season record. This record is deceiving as our team ran some of the better teams in the metropolitan area. Dennis McNulty, who has run number one man since his sophomore year, shattered his old school record of 10:09.5 by $7\frac{1}{2}$ seconds and recorded a swift 9:54 clocking in practice. As well as McNulty, the team was led by seniors Val Mikesell and Mark Smart, junior Mark Roth, and sophomore Tim Rowland. Next year's team will have 14 returning runners and should be a very strong team.

And Majorettes

After a great football season with the band, the Woodmanettes kept "marching along" spending many long hours practicing to perform during halftime at the home basketball games. They also presented the colors before the games.

One of the highlights of the season for the poms was to perform at an Indiana Pacer game. They did a Christmas show representing toy soldiers, candy canes, baby dolls, raggedy andys, and jack-in-the-boxes. This was one of the favorite routines loved by all.

The Woodmanettes bought new pom poms and props from banjos to hats and canes which added color and variety to each show.

Margie Nichols, captain, and Patty Coryell, co-captain, were faced with many responsibilities during the year. As choreographer, Lydia Elliott displayed her talent by working out many flashy and successful routines. It was the duty of the lieutenants to relay messages to the girls in their respective classes. Sherri Wheat was the senior representative, Susy Mattingly, Junior, Trina Tuccio, Sophomore, and Beth Powell for the Freshman. Under the guidance of their sponsor, Mrs. Susan Bucko, the Woodmanettes developed grace and talent which added much to each of their performances. The Majorettes Tammy Sharrer and Glynda Owens added sparkle and zest to the performances during the year.

plays, musicals, convocations, and even Junior Miss. Reve Porter, a junior at Greenwood, has worked hard enough these past two years to achieve assistant director. The tech crew's work sessions are held after school almost every day and sometimes last till late hours of the night. The tech crew members are very dedicated to their work on plays, musicals, and convocations. They realize that messing up a play by lighting mistakes only reflects on how hard they work; therefore, they work their hardest to do their best job.

Everything was new considering the '72 Woodman. The biggest thing was new direction and new facilities, such as its own room and many other conveniences. These were included in the package of new advancements. The Woodman staff is one of the largest in history this year. They are all working toward making this yearbook Greenwood's best ever. Many improvements have been made.

REJOICE WITH US!

Two of my friends went home last night.
I can't believe it's true.
I hadn't even said "Goodbye"--
Their years on earth so few!

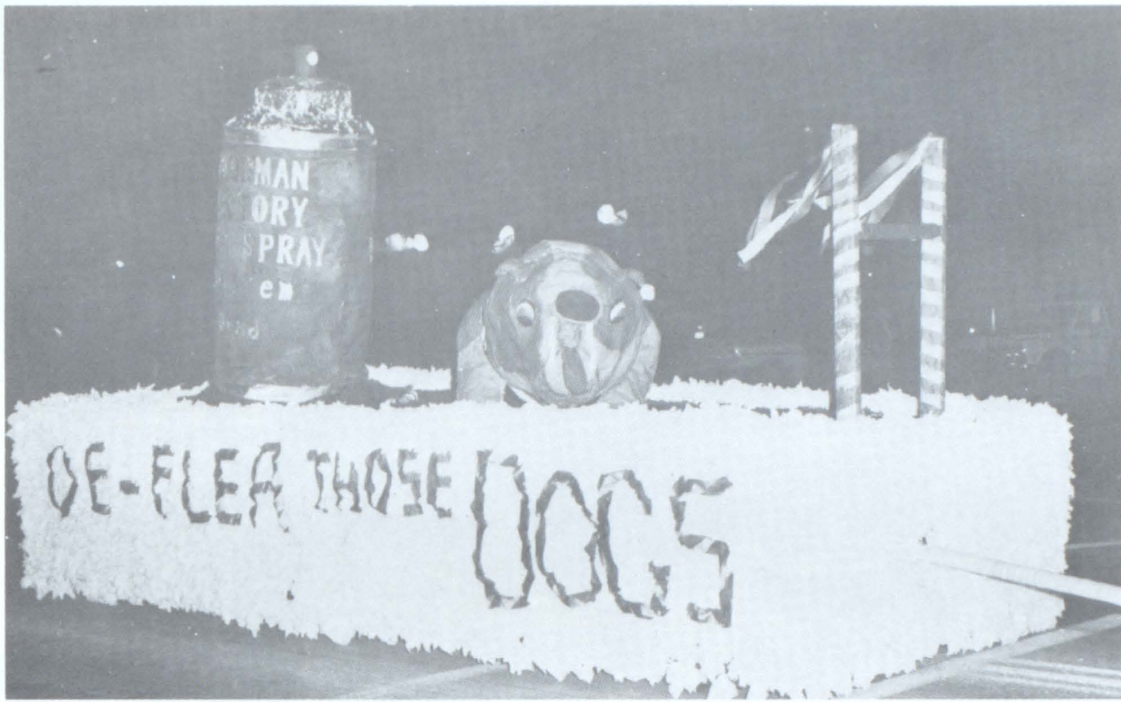

My heart cried out, "Come back, come back!
Why did you have to go?"
But still another voice I heard:
"Because I loved them so."

And now I see their lovely smiles
And hear their voices clear:
"Rejoice; rejoice; be glad with us:
We live forever here."

Under the direction of Mrs. Ora Lee Day, the cafeteria workers serve meals to approximately 1000 students every day. The students are served in 30 minute shifts, having their choice of two types of lunch. There is one line for Type A and two lines for an a la carte lunch. Milkshakes, salads, potato chips, and various fruit drinks may be bought besides hot sandwiches, milk, and dessert.

The cooks are supplied with provisions from the government and then they do the best they can with what they have. Sometimes it doesn't suit a person's taste, but something else may.

Editor-in-Chief

Kevin Hiatt

Well, I guess this is where I should write about this year's staff and all the work put into this book. So in keeping with tradition, (which, by the way, this book didn't) I sincerely would like to thank everyone that worked on those maddening Saturdays and all the other times.

I especially wish to thank the school administration for the excellent facilities they provided for us. Plus all the co-operation from the faculty and students during picture days. And to Mrs. Baynes and Mrs. Follmer, I really owe a lot for the back up they gave me on advertising and management. To Jane, Judy, Margie, Mers, Keith, and Bill, I thank for "putting up with" all my orders. Also, to Jane and Dawn, my heartiest good luck on next year's edition.
